Stenographer Andrews, who is an appointee of Judge Klein, became rattled, and in his conversation intimated that the testimony was wanted to cut some figure in the pending campaign. He said that he would not furnish the testimony unless an order came from the attorneys in the case.

Ex-City Counselor Leverett Bell, who filed the suit for the slivester company was then seen, and he cheerfully accompanied the reporter to Mr. Andrews' office in the Courthouse. He asked that the transcript be made, that he wanted it as soon as possible. Stenographer Andrews bowed acquiescence and Mr. Bell left satisfied that the official reporter would obey the law and grant his request. DR. BROKAW CROSS-EXAMINED.

Dr. F. V. L. Brokaw was recalled to the stand when Judge Green took the bench this morning. Lawyer McDonaid took up the cross-examination and tried to tangle him up in his testimony given in court and at the Coroner's inquest. Mr. McDonaid conducted the cross-examination concerning the operation in such a complicated manner that Dr. Brokaw made an explanation. He said:

"On Saturday afternoon Laura Fitts' condition had grown so bad that I determined an operation was necessary. I went to see my son and found him between 7 and 80'clock. He came over and looked at the patient and said: 'The light here is too poor, we had better wait until morning.' He went off to the medical society. I went about preparing for the morning's operation. Before leaving the house I went to her room and found her so bad that I jumped into my buggy, drove down to the medical society, got my son and told him to secure his assistants and come up and operate at once. This he did."

Mr. McDonald began to cross-examine him as to the patient's condition at the time of the operation.

THE HIGH PULSE.

"What was the condition of her pulse?"

"It was exceedingly bad; perhaps as high as 140."

"Does not the success of an operation de-pred upon the neless?"

"Did you not say before the coroner's jury that you were deceived as to Laura Fitts' condition?"

Mr. hcDonald then asked Dr. Brokaw the ingredients of the pills he gave Laura Fitts. "It is a fact the Fitts girl deceived you?"

"She said something about it when she first came."

"She said something about it when she first came."
"Did she not say she had been under treatment by a Dr. Green?"
"She said something about it."
Mr. McDonald asked Dr. Brokaw concerning his knowledge of Dr. Green's reputation in certain matters.
Attorney Zachritz objected. The court sustained, and Lawyer McDonald arose to argue the matter with the Court. In the midst of his argument Dr. Brokaw took the ground from under his feet by saying he knew nothing about Dr. Green's reputation.
"Did you not make a statement to Deputy Coroner Meade about Dr. Green?"
"Never to my best recollection."

Dr. F. J. Lutz was the next witness put upon the stand. He had conducted the postmortem examination and explained to the jury the condition of the body. the examination, most of which was of a purely technical nature.

He said the girl had been in a delicate condition when the operation was performed. From this point on both Attorney lishop and Lawyer McDonaid on direct and cross examination devoted themselves to questions of a strictly medicinal nature.

Mr. McDonaid's intention was plainly to bring out that the surgical operation afterward resorted to by Dr. Brokaw to save the girl's life had not been properly done.

Dr. Lutz testified: "I would say that in this case the operation had been very properly performed."

The examination continued along this line showing that the case will eventually develop into a "cause celebre" in medico-legal

The nature of the examination was of such an exclusively scientific nature that the jurors did not seem to grasp it, and often for a short time seemed to lose all interest in the proceedings. Two of them noticeably, who are men past middle life assumed an attitude which to the casual life assumed an attitude which to the casual observer had every appearance of sommolence. The marked features of Dr. Lutz's examination were the witty rejoinders made to Mr. McDonald's delicate questions and the unerring manner in which his statements of medical facts coincided with that of Dr. Brokaw, who preceded him. At 2 o'clock this afternoon Dr. Lutz concluded his testimony and the court took a recess. When court resumed Dr. A. V. L. Brokaw, the surgeon who conducted the operation of lapuratony on Laura Fitts in the hope of saving her life, was put upon the stand.

The Record of Cyrus P. Walbridge on the Merz Bill.

The Most Corrupt Measure Ever "Railroaded" Through the Assembly.

HOW THE CITY IS LITERALLY DE-FRAUDED OUT OF $80,000 ANNUALLY.

That Is the Amount Paid the Merz Company to Reduce All the City Garbage, But Notwithstanding This Immense Expenditure More Offal Is Dumpai Into the Mississippi Than Ever Be-

The measure which was known as Council bill No. 79 passed the Council July 8, 1890, was approved by the Mayor and became law Aug. 1, 1890. It is described as "an ordinance authorizing the Mayor and the Health Commissioner of the City of St. Louis to enter into a contract for the sanitary disposal of all the slop, offal, garbage and animal matter of the city of St. Louis by the Merz The history of the passage of the bill is full of interest and forms a beautiful example of the time-honored and smart practice known as "railroading." It was reported by the committee June 24, 1890. At the subsequent meetings of the Council it was several times taken up and laid over until a favorable moment should present itself. This auspicious occasion arrived at the meeting of July 8, when all the members were present except Horton and Metcalfe. On motion of Mr. Comfort President Walbridge's net measure was ordered to engrossment. Councilmen Bensiek, fort, Hoolan, Meyer, Rohan, Sloan, Vogel, and Walbridge voting in favor of the motion and Councilmen Cole, Ganahl and Nelson against it. Even while the Council continued in session the Committee on Engrossments held a hurrled meeting. and within an hour of the time Comfort had made his motion the bill was reported back engrossed, was read for the third time and on engrossment. The ordinance authorizes the Mayor and Health Commissoner to enter into contract for the sanitary disposal of all garbage, etc., by the Merz system as mentioned in the contract. It requires the contract to be made within thirty days of the approval of the ordinance, and that the contractor should mmence work not less than four month after the signing of the contract. Two works were to be erected, to be at all times subject to the inspection of the Health Commissoner, passed. Sometimes even the City Fathers can be hurried. The vote for the passage of the measure stood exactly the same as that

WHAT THE ORDINANCE PROVIDES. The contract was to be made for a period of not less than ten years, and the contractor was required to furnish a bond of $20,000 for the full performance of his contract. It gives the city the right to purchase the plant at the expiration of ten years at a price to be fixed by arbitrators. Payment was to be made to the contractor monthly at a fixed rate for each 100 pounds of garbage. The ordinance provides for the appointment of a garbage inspector and prohibits the dumping of any slops, garbage, etc., into any sewer, vacant lot, public or private property, street or alley, or into the alississippi River or any of its tributaries, but states that all such garbage shall be delivered to and destroyed by the Merz process by the contractor. A fine of not less than $100 and not more than $500 is provided for the violation of any of the provisions of the ordinance for each and every such violation. expiration of ten years at a price to be fixed the violation of any of the provisions of the ordinance for each and every such violation.

THE CITY WORKED.

The ordinance under which the contract was made with the Merz people distinctly specifies that work should be commenced in disposal of all garbage, etc., by this process not later than four months after the signing of the contract, and also binds the contractor to erect not less than two works to be conveniently situated for destroying the garbage. As a matter of fact it was over six months before work was commenced. A plant was put up at the foot of St. Louis avenue and the river in North St. Louis. The necessity for a second plant the company avoided in a very transparent manner by erecting a wooden shed at the foot of Chouteau avenue and putting in a temporary plant which was never of any practical value, and which an employe of the company told a reporter this morning had been abandoned within a few months of its commencement. At present the company is said to be operating with the one works in North St. Louis.

been abandoned within a few months of its commencement. At present the company is said to be operating with the one works in North St. Louis.

For the fiscal year just closing $63,670.10 was appropriated with which to pay the company for reducing the city's garbage. Of this they have received $4,780.40, leaving a balance of $18,879.70, which they will unquestionably receive before the year closes. In addition to this is the contract made with James Hardy for hauling the garbage, which the company bought from him. This represents an additional $25,000. A new district, No. 8, has also been added, for which $850 a month is paid the company. In spite of this, more garbage is at present dumped into the Mississippi River than had ever been so disposed of previous to the introduction of the Merz system. Harbor Commissioner Able this morning acknowledged this fact and gave the reporter figures on which he bases his statement, as follows: April, 1892, 5,784 loads of garbage were dumped into the river; May, 10,501 loads; June, 22,892 loads; July, 28,587 loads; October, 19,210 loads; November, 13,735 loads; October, 19,210 loads; November, 13,735 loads; December, 12,380 loads; January, 7,030 loads; February, 8,598 loads.

The Commissioner believes that no offal from the slaughter-houses is dumped into the river, but this is easily accounted for as from this the company can make the best artificial fertilizer.

Some time before the passage of the ordinance the Mayor authorized a committee to proceed to other cities to investigate the workings of the system in other places where it was in oberation. Cyrus P. Walbridge, President of the Council, personally attended to the make up of this committee. Dr. Merrill, a connection of his, who knew as much about the Merz system in other places where it was found that the plant had been condemned and abandoned. That however, Mr. Walbridge and the balance of the committee thought must be owing to the committee thought must be owing to the committee thought must be owing the found into affairs would be found. There the committee found a popular axitation on foot to do away with the plant which had only proved a nuisance of the worst kind. The reporter was this morning informed that some time ago incendiaries broke into the works at St. Paul, overpowered the watchman and burned the place. Needless to say no tears were shed over its loss.

She left Chicago last Wednesday, and to-day she is on her way from Oakland to Los Angeles. Cal. Her trip was arranged nnder circumstances somewhat peculiar. About ten days ago a number of railroad men, principally passenger agents, were sitting in a thicago hotel discussing the superiority of through car service, palace car arrangements and the excellence of union depot accommodations in the United States. In the party were representatives of two foreign railroads who showed a disposition to question some of the claims made by the American passenger agents. One of the act" on a smaller

The Europeans laughed at this and the American agent promised to find the lady in twenty-four hours. Miss Mitchell, an attractive young lady employed as a stenographer in a Chicago railroad printing house, was selected to make the trip, and she unhesitatingly accepted the invitation. She left last Wednesday night over the Chicago and Northwestern for Omaha, where she took the Union Pacific. At Portland on Sunday morning last she took the Southern Pacific, which will land her at El Paso at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The connections are so close at all stations that she will not lose more than twenty-seven hours during the three weeks of travel. Mission Conference.

THE PRAYERS ONLY ASKED FOR RELIG-IOUS EDITORS. HOWEVER.

An Address Setting Forth the Field of Religious Newspapers and Explaining the Good They Accomplish-President Kendrick of Shurtleff College on Mis--Second Day's Proceedings.

The second day's session of the Baptist fission Centenary Conference, in session at the Third Baptist Church, began this morn-ing with prayer, led by Rev. F. Hoffman. Pres-ident A. A. Kendrick, D. D., of Shurtleff College, Upper Alton, Ill., delivered an address. He said that there was no form of sin which had not the element of personal selfishness, which he said could only be destroyed by self-sacrifice and self-denial. The highest exemplification of self-sacrifice was missionary work, which he said was the re-enactment of the tragedy on the cross. The Christian life of the present day was lifting itself up more and more to the sub-lime service of missions at home and abroad. He instanced the university settlement plan by which young men of culture took up their abode inside the houses of the submerged tenth, and labored to improve their condition. He said that the obligation of missionary self-sacrifice rested on all Christians, and when this was realized the raising of $1,000,000 for missions would be the rule and not the exception. Rev. Dr. J. P. Greene. President of William Jewell College, Liberty, Mo., was on the programme for a paper entitled "Colleges in Relation to Missions," but he not having arrived, DR. WILLIAMS' ADDRESS.

Rev. Dr. Williams, editor of the Central Baptist of this city, delivered a very erudite and instructive address on the topic, "The Religious Press and Missions." He said that the number of newspapers, journals and periodicals published in the United States was greater than in all the rest of the world periodicals published in the United States was greater than in all the rest of the world combined. Every newspaper produced impressions, promoted thought and shaped character. He said that it was the habit with some to decry the religious newspapers and to look down upon their editors, but their worth and importance were admitted even by the secular press, which maintained special religious departments. 'Indeed,' said the doctor, 'one of them styles itself the great religious daily, a piece of irony grotesque in the extreme. The doctor did not agree with those who were in favor of fewer and stronger religious newspapers, because, he said, each publication has influence, and because the law of the survival of the fittest prevails in a marked degree among newspapers. He said that at the inciplency of Baptist journalism Baptist missions were at a low ebb, and that the growth of the one went hand in hand with the progress of the other. He said that the religious newspapers should stand shoulder to shoulder with those trying to spread religion. There would be lass call for the newspaper if the pasters were realizations of the ideal, but even thy needed information, and sometimes they needed information, and sometimes they newspaper. Dr. Williams devoted considerable time to a review of the duties of the religious newspapers to the denomination. 'It is a sad fact,' said he, 'that there is a latent opposition to missions. Some are unfortendly to missions on account of the magnitude of the work. 'Home missions' is their cry. They forget that home and foreign missions is a manmade distinction. It is a sad fact that there is a great multitude of 'omissionary' Baptists. In the average Baptist church, there are more people who do not give to the mission fund than who do give. If the gifts of the people were compared with their ability the effect would be heart-sickening.''

DODGED GIVING.

Dr. Williams went on to say that if

if a pastor made a previous announcement of a missionary sermon, the pews would be empty when he mouned the pulpit. This class of people could not be reached by long missionary editorials, and hence, the doctor said, facts about missions were put in brief, attractive paragraphs, sugared pills which were swallowed by the reader almost without his knowing what they were. Dr. Williams spoke of the work done by the religious newspaper in promoting unity among the brethren, between the missionary abroad and his constituents at home, between the missionaries themselves as well as between the brethren who maintain the missionaries. The doctor then took up the duty of the denomination to the religious newspaper. "The paper," said he, "has a right to expect the prayers of its subscribers. You talk about praying for your pastor, but who ever thought about praying for the editor? They need the business ability of an Astor, the wisdom of a Solomon and the patience of Job. Pray for the editors. They need it, I assure you," exclaimed the doctor, with earnest eloquence.

Pray for the editors. They need it, I assure you, "exclaimed the doctor, with earnest eloquence.

Rev. Fred P. Haggard of Dubuque, Io., a young man who is under appointment to go as a missionary to Assam, India, followed Dr. Williams with an address entitled: "Orisis of Missions." He spoke of the various elements in the missionary situation which will have to decide the success or the failure of work. On the one hand was the opening of all countries to the missionary, and the resources of civilized countries devoted to the work. On the other hand, was the fewness of missionaries and the attitude of Christian nations such as England, which fostered the opium trame, and the United States which excluded the Chinese and exported rum to Africa.

Rev. Addison Moore led the introductory prayer service at this afternoon's session. Rev. Dr. J.W. Ford, pastor of Second Baptist Church? delivered an address on "The Furpose of the Ages." Hev. B. G. Tut and Rev. P. S. Henson also spoke, after which the conference adjourned to visit the Haptist Sanitarium. The conference will conclude to-night with addresses by Hev. W. B. Powell, D. D., and Henry C. Mabie, D. D.

Latimer, the Murderer, Again in Jackson Prison.

He Was Captured Eighteen Miles Away Last Night.

A SPRAINED ANKLE PREVENTED HIM PROM GETTING FARTHER.

Returned to the Penitentiary by His Captors at an Early Hour To-day-Meet ing With the Befooled Prison Clerk Tabor, Who Bought the Prussic Acid for Him-Story Told by Latimer While on His Way Back.

JEROME, Mich., March 29.-It was 9 o'clock last night when a man entered a country store here and asked for a pair of boots. A young man standing by whispered in the clerk's ear: "That's Latimer." The clerk nearly fell down. "Run out and tell father." he said faintly to the man who had recognized Latimer. The young man slipped out of the store to inform the proprietor. By this time Latimer, the escaped murderer, who had caught on to the fact that he was mized, left the store, having purchased ap pair of boots, a pair of socks and a pair of buck mittens. He passed between two stores, struck the railroad track, followed it a short distance and took the traveled road back the way he had come. Coming to the road leading to Hudson he started up that. He did not run, but walked at a good clip. After a few moments of confusion at the store, the two young men followed down the road and soon overtook Latimer. They were walking along by the side of him, fearing to lay hands on him, when the constable, who had joined the pursuit, drove up and jumped from the buggy. He tapped Latimer on the breast, saying: "You are Latimer; I want you."

"Who is Latimer?" inquired the fugitive, innocently.

"You are, and I want you."

"I never heard of Latimer, as I know of," insisted the convict. He made no resistance whatever, but walked back a mile and a half to the village, side by side with his captors. He was all tired out and could not have made any sort of resistance if he had wished to.

In paying for the boots and other articles, Latimer handed out one of the $5 gold pled taken from the pockets of George Haight, whom he had murdered twenty-four hours before. Latimer was recognized by his striped shirt, which he tried to keep covered up, and by his prison trousers. Said one of his captors:

"Latimer did not get a bit excited when he seemed to understand we knew him. He spoke slowly, made change deliberately and then walked out slowly. He is a devil of a cool chap."

LATIMER'S STORY.

LATIMER'S STORY.

Latimer told the following story to T. J.

Lowrey, one of his captors:

"Lintended to escape, if I could, all the time," he said. "I studied up the medicines which I knew would act the quickest and do which I knew would act the quickest and do the work effectively, but I never intended to his work effectively, but I never intended to his work effectively. I read books on poisons and recent the property of the property o saw he was easy to believe kept it up."

LATIMER'S FIRST GREAT CRIME.

LATIMER was serving a life term for the murder of his mother, Jan. 24, 1889, with whom he lived alone in their home in Jackson. Eighteen months before his father, Robert F. Latimer, died suddenly, leaving considerable property, including $11,000 life insurance, to Mrs. Latimer. His death was insurance, to Mrs. Latimer. His death was doubt of the son's guilt, led to the conviction that he was also responsible for his father's violent death.

On the morning of Jan. 2i young Latimer want to Detriot to be gene all night and Mrs. Latimer was left alone in the house. The following morning workmen employed in the place could not gain an entrance to the house. The door was forced by neighbors, who became alarmed at the failure of Mrs. Latimer to appear in re-ponse to repeated summonses. They entered her bed-room on the second floor and found her lying upon the bed, clothed in her night robe. She had been dead several hours. Her head, face and neck wase covered with blood. The bed was saturated with blood. Merks of blood were also found in young Latimer's room.

The autopsy showed that two pistol shots had inflicted the wounds that caused Mrs. Latimer's death. Both shots entered the face, passing through the neck. Physicians said the woman had died about 3 o'clock in the morning.

TRACED TO THE SON.

That afternoon Latimer who, by the way, was sole heir to the property his father had left his mother, returned to the house. He appeared so unconcerned at the violent death of his mother that suspicion was immediately directed against him and he was promptly subjected to ja rigid examination, but declared he had been in Detroit and had no connection with the murder.

A careful investigation proved Latimer's atory to be false. He did go to Detroit and visited many irlends in order that he might be able to prove that he had been away from Jackson. But that night he returned to his mother in cold blood.

All this, however, was not discovered until after the inquest on the body of .rs. Latimer. The verdict was that the woman had been murdered his mother in cold blood.

All this, however, was not discovered until after the inquest on the body of .rs. Latimer. The verdict was that the woman had been murdered by some person or persons unknown to the jury. In the meantime detectives were working on the case. Everything pointed to the guilt of the son. Five day reating his mother's death and his trial as a joke.

The case was called before Judge Peck of the Jackson Criminal Court April 24. The trial lasted ten days. It was clearly shown that Latimer was guilty, and upon retiring the jury brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree, after deliberating less than a quarter of an hour. Seventeen minutes after leaving the box the fate of the prisoner was declared in open court. May il Latimer was sentenced to life imprisonment, and was a few days later taken to the penitentiary.

Robert F. Latimer, the convict's fatner, was a Jackson drugglest. His son succeeded to the business, which was prosperous, and was conducting it with profit at the time of the murder of Mrs. Latimer. He was dissipated, however, and spent much money on wine and women in Detroit and other cities he visited frequently.

and women in Detroit and stated frequently. The muriered woman was 52 years of age, with and beloved by all her neighbors. She was a prominent member of the Congregational Church and associated her name with the state of the Congregational Church and associated her name with the state of the Congregations.

THE MURDERER RETURNS WITHOUT MAKING ANY BESISTANCE. JACKSON, Mich., March 29 .- It was afte midnight when the captors started from midnight when the captors started from Jerome with their prisoner. There was a clamor that he be tied hand and foot, but he said: "If you have to tie me, just tie my feet, my hands will get so cold."

The guards decided they could take care of the man without tying him. It was during the long ride to Jackson that Latimer told the story of his escape. The party came into town in something of a roundabout way, fearing that a mob might be in

MAY BURN ANTLERS.

Little Prospect of a Peaceful Settlement of the Choctaw Troubles. PARIS, Tex., March 29.—Everything is quiet at Antiers, I. T., to-day, but the people are in a position of great uneasiness. Nobody regards the matter as settled. The militia that were left after the arrest of a por tion of the force by the Federal authoritles went away last night. It has been given out that they have has been given out that they have disbanded, but it is believed that they have retired into the mountains to await further orders and the result of the trials of those brought here. Solomon Batisti, Sheriff of Klowita County, who was shot by Locke and his men, is said to be dying. He has many Iriends who say they will avenge his death. The impression is gaining ground that Antiers will be burned. Locke is at Antiers with a few picked men. He refuses to leave and says he will die before he will be driven out of the county. The Jones men are confident they are right. They say they are trying to enforce the law and Locke is endeavoring to thwart them.

ing to enforce the law and Locke is endeavoring to thwart them.

YESTERDAY'S BATTLE.

The residence of Dick Locke, the National leader, looks like a sleve this morning, more than 1,500 bullets having penetrated it from the rifles of the attacking militia under Capt. Key Durant yesterday afternoon. The encounter lasted half an hour and during that time the town of Antiers was in a state of terror. The inhabitants believed that the Choctaw trouble would be amicably adjusted yesterday morning and were in no wise prepared for active war. Locke was in camp in the mountains three miles away when Capt. Durant's militia came to his house and wanted to search it. Locke heard of this and with his son and eight friends went home, fearing violence to his family. He reached home at 100 a.m. United States Commissioner H. H. Kirkpatrick, Assistant United States Attorney Frankle and Judge A. R. Durant proceeded to Davenport, where the militia were encamped, and held a consultation with Capts. Durant and the later were informed that if Locke attacked Durant, who was a United States Deputy Aarshal, he and his entire party would be held to answer to the United States Courts. If Durant attacked Locke who had served as United States posse man and guard, he and his party would be amenable. Durant's men were asked if they had process for any of Locke's men. They claimed to have process for Willis Jones, who was implicated in the assassination of four men of the Progressive Chockaw party last fall.

men of the Progressive Choctaw party last fall.

The party returned to Antiers and conferred with Locke, who prepared the following proposition. This he put in the hands of Gibbons, Kirkpatrick and Lee, to be carried to the hostile camp:

Agreeing to surrender any man among his followers for whom a regular warrant had been issued into the hands of the legal authorities of the nation, but refusing to let the militia make arrests without due process of law.

authorities of the nation, dutreiusing to let the militia make arrests without due process of law.

ATTACKED BY THE MILITIA.

With this document the party of peace-makers started for the militia headquarters, but were met near town by the advance guard of twenty-five headed by Judge Duke, who would not parley, but proceeded at once to the attack of Locke's house. They would not grant time before hostilities for the removal of Locke's wife and children, who crossed from the house under the fire. Capt. Thompson arrived at this time and, with Mr. Gibbons, went to his men and begged them to cease firing. During the attack the two went to Locke's house and Mr. Gibbons, on the outside, commanded the peace while Capt. Thompson satisfied himself that no one who was wanted was within. The latter then made his men cease firing. Mrs. Locke went for physicians, In the house Mack Hill was shot through the shoulder, John Worcester and Solomen Homer in the head fatally. Militiaman Solomon Battiste was shot through the arm and in the side; will die.

Gibbons, Kirkpatrick and Judge Durant went to the militia camp and arrested G. W. Duke and elgateen others. A strong force of deputy marshals went from bere with Marshal Dickerson to keep the peace.

woods of Cleveland, O., who died at his winfer home in Augusta, Ga., on the 27th. There are but few heirs apparent to the spiendid fortune which the dead man leaves, aggregating something like $15,000,000, and the bulk of the estate will probably be divided between five or six people.

The dispatches from Cleveland last night state that John L. Woods, the banker and philanthropist, died in Augusta, Ga., where he had gone for his health. They accredit him with having given away the bulk of his estate to charities, but such does not seem to be the case, the aggregate of the amounts stated not exceeding $300,000.

There are some few distant heirs to the dead man's estate, but he is understood to have given them from $1,000 to $5,000 each a few years ago, with the understanding that such sums were to be all they should look forward to. The immediate heirs are J. L. Woods Merrill of the American Eagle Tobacco Co. of Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. Taplin, a sister of the two named, a widow and childless. Mr. Woods also leaves a sister, Mrs. Tewksbury of Detroit, Mich., who even now lies at death's door. His wife died some three or four months ago.

THE STORY IN CLEVELAND. CLEVELAND, O., March 29.—An intimate and ifelong friend and business associate of the late John L. Woods, when asked about the late John L. Woods, when asked about the telegram from Kansas City in regard to the reputed heir at that place, said: "I never heard of this man at Kansas City. Had there been such a man I think I should have known of his existence. The estate of Mr. Woods cannot possibly amount to over $500,000. That is the outside figure."

Mrs. Tewksbury died at Detroit last Saturday.

San Francisco, Cal., March 29.—A dispatch from the Lick Observatory late last night stated that no one there had seen any unknown star in the sky, yet a brilliant heaven-enly body with a rapid motion was apparent all along the coast from San Francisco to Riverside.

The other candidate, Mr. Bannerman, is a business man of twenty years or more residence in this city, and is one of the enterprising, energetic and public-spirited citizens of St. Louis. He has served the city as School Director and as Speaker of the House of Delegates, and not one whisper of improper conduct in office has ever been heard against him. He is known by all of his associates as a man of courage, aggressive in the assertion of right and in the denunciation of wrong, of absolute integrity and of intelligent experience in public affairs. There is no stain upon his character, and no one has ever doubted his truthfulness. Soon after his nomination he made a public statement of his position and the course he will follow if elected Mayor. His words are as follows:

amagnifiest the city is not indebted to them.

The charge that Mr. Bannerman is associated after careful examination, absolutely without foundation, but emanates from interested political epponents and

The next most important office to be filled is that of the President of the Courcil. The Democratic nominee is Thomas Ward. He has been charged in the newspapers with being interested as a partner in the brick firm which has the contract for the brick work upon the new city Hail. The city charter provides that no city official shall be interested in any city contract. This charge has never been answered, so far as we are aware. It was publicly made, and Mr. Ward has had every opportunity and inducement to deny it, and not having done so, it is fair to return the matter to the more statement of the courcil of the courcil of the courcil. Mr. Ward has been Speaker of a House of Delegates, which has been fruitful of scandals; and if he has ever made an assault upon a bill of doubtful character the public has as yet not been advised of it. The Republican nomines for this office is Mr. Charles Nagel, a man of irreproachable standing, a lawyer of fine ability and of the highest and most aggressive order of integrity. No charge of any kind has ever been made against Mr. Nagel in any form. The electors who placed him in nomination upon the Independent Mundelpal ticket, and all the members of your committee, unite in assuring you that he is a man exceptionally well fitted for the duties of this office. Indeed, it would be difficult to find in our entire city one of such eminent qualifications for this position.

For Collector one party has named Mr. Henry Ziegenhein, the present incumbent. Mr. Ziegenbein entered the Collector's office with a most enviable reputation for fair dealing and integrity. Even now, there is none to suggest that he ever made a dishonest dollar through it. But that he has allowed the office to become demoralized; that he has exercised a discretion which the law does not give him, in allowing certain salons to run several months where the Government will not allow them to run a day, without paying license; that the eity has lost thousands of dollars through his mistaken leniency; that in the matter of merchants' licenses, practices have grown up which have caused loss to the treasury, the evidence is too strong to be doubted. Opposed to him is James McCaffery, a young man who has an excellent reputation among the members of the St. Louis bar, and who is noted for the fact that he has for years been in open opposition to the machine which has brought so much opprobrium on the Democratic party. In a recently published interview, Mr. McCaffery, after approving the s

Nothing is more common at this season of the year than the expression "I have a bad cold," but it means comething far more serious than is generally supposed. It means that the person who has taken cold is in a bad state of health. Why? Because a person in good health easily resists cold. We also call your attention to the office of President of Board of Assessors, the importance of which cannot be overrated. The present incumbent, John J. His experience in the administration of the office is of immense value to the public, and he should be re-elected.

The records of the Council show that one of its first official acts was to appoint Charles, Comfort to be chairman of the Railroad hommittee, one of the most important, if not he most important, committees in the Council and one which, in the hands of unscrupious men, may cost the City of St. Louis milling retained Mr. Comfort as chairman if that committee for two years, and, according to the Council record, voted with he recommendation of that committee upon nany. NAGEL'S RESTAURANT.

An Elegant New Addition to Accomm

The oyster house and restaurant of Frank A. the new part fronting 20 feet on Sixth street.

"Nagel's," by which term the place is familiarly and favorably known, has a frontage of 70 feet on Sixth street and 30 feet on St. Charles, the buildings being two, stories high, and there is thus afforded nearly one-third of an acre of floor room.

The lower floor of the establishment is exclusively for gentlemen. At the corner is a neat apartment used as a bar-room, the lower walls being wainscoted with marble and the upper walls and the beiling being enriched with lincrusta waiton. The gentlemen's dining apartments, with entrances from either street, have rich and durable furnishings, and can easily accommodate 175 people at one sitting. The visitor, in passing through a marble corridor, finds himself in the new building. The foor and wainscoting here are of Vermont marble, the luster of the polished wainscoting being in pretty contrast with the rich white unpolished floor. The kitchen, complete in its modern furnishings and fixtures, is 25x30 feet and has superior ventilating apparatus. The upper floor has a banquet half and a ladies' and gentlemen's dining apartment. The banquet hall, a part of the new structure, measures 20x50, is high studded, substantially furnished, well ventilated, and will seat 100 people. Connecting with the ball is a reception room 20x20, which will be a very convenient adjunct of the banquet department. The ladies and gentlemen's dining room, as many regular patrons well know, is nicely carpeted and draped and is a very convenient adjunct of the banquet department. A WITNESS' MEMORY.

Ill., March 28 .- A special Grand jury called by Judge Bookwalter Saturday this city. The object of this call as stated by Judge Bookwalter, is the investigation of matter overlooked by the regular Grand jury, the main facts having come to light since its adjournment. Although there has been an attempt at secrecy in reference to the matter to be investigated it is generally understood to be a revival of the Crawford Crawford was the main witness for Joseph Scott in the Gilkey-Scott case, involving nearly $15,000.

He testified to having heard all the conversations wherein Scott's interests were involved and repeated them word for word. It was a rather suspicious chromotopic in the statement of the statemen volved and repeated them word for word. It was a rather suspicious circumstance, however, that he couldn't remember any contemporary incidents and his testimony as a whole was of a parrot-like character, as though it had been learned by note.

It is now claimed that on the day that Crawford testified to having heard the conversation between Gilkey and Scott he was hauling corn to Mortimer, a village several miles distant. The dates of the scale books at that place and the checks given him are said to verify this fact. This is what the Grand-jury is investigating and aff the allegations can be proved Crawford is in a pretty hard row of stumps.

CHICAGO, III., March 29.—Lake Geneva, Wis., will be the home of the Yerkes Telescope and Observatory and Samuel Waller-ton, Citizens' candidate for Mayor of Chicago, donates a magnificent site and a lot of money besides. The Committee of Trustees of the Chicago University, which has this matter in charge, made the decision last matter in charge, made the decision last night—all save a formal vote. There was not a member opposed to this location and after listening to a score of proposals and visiting as many offered sites, the opinion was unanimous that the Wisconsin resort met with all the scientific requisites. In addition to this the cash and land bonus was liberal and the proposed grounds, entirely accessible, are yet far removed from the atmospheric disturbances which a manufacturing center would produce. The village is but a farmers' trading post, as far as its commerce is concerned and the territory round about will always be essentially agricultural.

THE House of Delegates in committee of the whole will give a hearing to both sides on the subject of the well-closing ordinance at 7 o'clock to-night. All citizens who think that the wells should be closed as a measure of protection of the public health should attend, and make the demand for the measure overwhelming.

It is hardly worth while for the press to discuss the question as to who is "the greatest living Republican." The greatest living Republican is not great to hurt, unless he happens to be some man now un known who will come forward in '96 with more liberal ideas than the present leaders are capable of entertaining.

In six weeks female footpads in Chicago have committed twenty-five robberies on the streets. With both male and female footpads getting in their work, what is to ecome of the Fair visitor who doesn't take a Winchester along with him? Ought not these footpads to be suppressed before the Fair opens? The ordinary Chicagoan will want all the money that visitors carry, and it should not be allowed to go to the footpads.

A SCRAP OF HISTORY.

The history of the introduction of the Merz system here which has proved to be one of the biggest jobs ever foisted on the city by submissive legislators is given in to-day's Post-Dispatch and throws new and valuable light on the official character and conduct of Mayoralty candidate Walbridge.

As President of the Council Mr. Walbridge was chief legislative engineer of this job. He was a member of the committee to investigate the system and one of his family connections was employed as its expert. Despite the evidence obtained in Detroit and St. Paul that the system was a failure, and despite the evidence that the ordinance was a job, the Walbridge committee made a favorable report. The ordinance was "railroaded" through the Council, Mr. Walbridge working and voting for it.

Under that ordinance the city pays about $80,000 for the reduction of garbage which is not reduced. Although the ordinance forbids, under penalty of fine, the dumping of garbage in the river or the disposing of it otherwise than provided by the law. Harbor Commissioner Able states that more garbage is dumped in the river now than previous to the adoption of the system. No fine has ever been imposed upon the company for violating the ordinance, nor is it held to account for the performance of the contract under which it draws an enormous sum of money from the city.

If Mr. Walbridge was duped into supporting the reduction system and its contract ordinance, although it is impossible to see how he could have been, it would have been a mere act of justice to himself and the city whose interests he is sworn to guard to insist upon the fulfillment of the nance. He has done nothing of the kind. He has permitted the city to be cheated and gouged under an ordinance which he helped to push through the Council.

Is this the kind of man the people of Louis want in the Mayor's office?

festly improper that an inquiry concerning it was started in the Council and despite the efforts of his friends, one of whom was Walbridge, to secure a whitewash for him through sharp practice, his administration was consured by a Council Committee for failure to enforce the law and properly collect the revenue.

In an investigation of his office by the Grand-jury Ziegenhein escaped indictment for violations of the law only through official trickery so palpable and disreputable that eight members of the jury, as a measure of self-respect, asked to be exused from further service.

By his own confession he has exercised gross favoritism in the collection of both ramshop and merchants' licenses.

He has used his power as Collector to further his political ambition in disregard of law and in defiance of popular rights. He has permitted his deputies to abuse their powers for personal gain.

In defiance of the city ordinance he has issued licenses to saloonkeepers convicted of violation of the law.

In violation of the dramshop law he has llowed keepers of dives to run their saons without licenses, and has helped them to evade arrest. In violation of the law he has permitted breweries to take out and hold saloon

The list of law violations and outrag abuses of official power of which Czar Ziegenhein has been guilty is not exhausted in this indictment, but it is suffielent to render it a practical insult to intelligent and reputable citizens to advise them against indorsing his maladministration of the office of Collector.

Fortunately they have the opportunity o support in James McCaffery an honest and capable man who has proved faithful as far as tried in public office and who is under pledge to obey the law.

JOHN J. O'BRIEN.

The President of the Board of Assesso s the city's chief revenue agent and the people's main dependence for a fairly and justly equalized assessment of their taxaole property.

The District Assessors are appointed by the Mayor and Council: the four members of the Board of Equalization by the Circuit Judges. But the official who directs and supervises the work of the District Asessors, presides over the final revision of the assessments by the Board of Equalization and supplies that board with information to guide its decisions, is the President, chosen directly by the people to devote his whole time to a study of property valuations and the fluctuations thereo: in this city.

It is a most important and responsible ffice, requiring not only expert qualifications that are rare but an integrity of purpose and strength of character that are not always found united with skill and Having chosen John J. O'Brien eight rears ago for this position, the people, rrespective of party, recognize him as a man who has loyally, devotedly and courageously done his whole duty. They know also that the information he possses about St. Louis property is of inestimable value to the city and her tax payers in the work of adjusting and readusting assessments.

It is certain that a majority of busines nen and tax-payers in either party would grieve to find on the morning after the lection that the clerk or silent partner of ome real estate firm, a man untrained in he work and of unknown character and qualification had been elected, merely because he is a Republican, to the place which John J. O'Brien has filled so ably and so faithfully for eight years.

But that very thing may happen through the rage for straight ticket voting on election day, unless tax-payers and business men of both parties look carefully to the re-election of O'Brien

A BLOT ON THE 'SCUTCHEON. Accompanying the publication of a Walbridge campaign document in the Globe-Democrat vesterday was the following explanation of the manner in which it was obtained:

The letter-book was produced by the type writer. Judge Krum excused himself to con erse with a client in his private office, and when he returned he found the letter had been torn out of the book and the reporter had disappeared.

It is unnecessary to explain to the pub lic that breach of trust and sneak thievery are not regarded by the journalistic profession as legitimate methods of getting news. How it happens that a person of this self-confessed character is in its emnt as a reporter, and dorsed both his dishonor and his confession of it solely concern the Globe-Democrat.

WHEN a Chicago wife discovers a big blonde in the family carriage and the Chicago wife's husband is with that blonde, the people's sympathy is with the wife when she proceeds to tear up the blande's new spring hat and wreck the rest of her apparel; and when the blonde turns on the poor little woman, and with fists and claws inflicts cruel wounds, the public interferes to save the wife. It also hrashes the husband when he tries to separate the ladies. There is hope for Chicago morals so long as the bystanders at these little Windy City street scenes disriminate so well.

THE reform candidate for Mayor of Chicago turns up as a director of a corporation which two years ago procured the most lavish grant ever bestowed upon private individuals in that lavish city. Nothing was paid for it except to the aldermen, who made a good thing out of it. It is much to be feared that municipal reform is not to be realized in any city this year. The franchises are not all granted yet, and the eminent and respectable citizens can't afford to be virtuous.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

The Typical Philistina.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: A letter like that by "M. D. M." on the "Causes of Poverty" is enough to make any one who is even half human hate the very name of materialism, atheism or agnostiname of materialism, atheism or agnosticism—call it by what name you will—for the cold, harsh, repelling view of men and things due to so-called "ilbertai" teaching. There are two classes of blasphemers—out inside, the other outside the churches. One says nature is responsible for human suffering and degradation; the other says, "it has always been so and will always be so," and quotes Scripture to prove it—"the poor ye have always with you"—and thereby makes God responsible for the wrongs from which the poor are suffering. Though these classes hate each other, they are brothers in blasphemy—one attributing the world's suffering to a living monster called God, the other to a dead monster called Nature—differing from each other only in the name they apply to the over-ruling power.

But who is "M. D. M.?"
He is a type we meet every day. He does not try to reform anything in particular. He has discovered that it is no use. He simply wants us to know that he has found out how foolish it all is. He has traversed the path of knowledge to where all is dark beyond, and has hastened back with the news that all our hopes and efforts are in vain. He seems to exuit, if not in the news he brings, in the fact that he reckons himself as among the advanced few to discover the "truth," stern though it appears. He is a reckless as he is resigned, His sentiments are as harsh and repellent as the characteristics he attributes to the ruling power he calls nature. Nature, he says, knows no philanthropy, it says prove your right to live or perish, and the incompetents all perish.

Might is right! No matter what system of robbery exists, "the existence of poverty and misery proves the existence of incompetents. This is one cause of poverty, and it is beyond human remedy unless we kill our incompetents at their birth." But how does our M. D. M. justify the charge of incompetents being responsible for their own poverty, and how does he prove the laws of nature to hear and and in accomplete that the discount of the fact that nen any single industry becomes more a ordinarily profitable capital immediateresult is over-production and a surplus, hence "the shutting down of mills and the throwing out of employment of the work ers." So it is after men are denied the opportunity to produce that "the existence of poverty and misery proves the existence of incompetents," and their incompetence is such as enables them to produce so much of everything that they starve because of producing more than enough for all. Nature in her cruelty—nature that "knows no philanthropy," aids in starving her children by responding so bounteously to labor's call.

The Single-Tax Voters.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
An item in yesterday's Post-Dispatch, evidently inspired by a socialistic sympathizer, states that the Single-taxers of St. Louis are going to support Sanderson, the Socialist candidate for Mayor, and gives as authority candidate for Mayor, and gives as authority for the information that Percy Pepoon, as presiding officer of the league, last Friday evening, in extending a vote of thanks, told Mr. Sanderson that Single-taxers would prefer him to either of the other candidates. This is all nonsense. Mr. Pepoon may have said something of the kind as a little pleasantry to tickle the candidate, but he is too smart a man to undertake to vouch for the action of any Single-taxer other than himself in the coming municipal election. If the action of any Single-taxer other than himself in the coming municipal election. If the candidate was an avowed Single-taxer he could say such things with considerable cendence, but true Single-taxers are not Socialists and will not vote for the Socialist candidate. Single-taxism and Socialism, in my estimation, are the opposite extremes of economic thought. One means freedom in its broadest significance, the other paternalism in all that that term implies.

The Merchants' Bridge Crossing.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
It would be a good idea for the Merchants ferminal Co. to run the bridge up Ferry street and have a street car that would run out to the West End. This would give men working across the river a chance to get to their work without walking so far to catch the car. A great many men work over the river who own their own homes out at the Fair Grounds of Bryant's Hill. You see what advantage it would give them to have the car. Those living out at the Fair Grounds have to walk to the foot of Bremen avenue to get across the river of pay two car fares. O get across the river or pay two car fares, of course they can't afford to do this on the alary they receive.

Temple of Beauty

THRONGED WITH DELIGHTED LADIES, Old Faces Restored to Youth

Beauty Captivated by Mme. Yale's Great and Wonderful System

MME. YALE'S Temple of Beauty is now a permanent institution in St. Louis, situated at 409 N. BROADWAY. The ladies of St. Louis join the ladies of the whole world in sounding the braisses of the beautiful MEE. YALE. The Grand Opera-house was crowded on Monday last with she clits of St. Louis society, all anxious to see for themselves the Queen of Beauty, a woman knewn to the civilized world as the creator of the highest art in existence, how to restore youth and cuitivate beauty. MME. YALE's own appearance is a marvel of beauty at 40. She is as fresh and lovely as any young beauty of 18. She guarantees to restore any woman to youth, no matter if she is 65 or 70 years old. Bad complexions are a disgrace to any woman. MME. YALE will give anyone a beautiful asteral complexion by using her remedies and taking her treatment. No charge is made for the treatments. The remedies are reasonable and within the reach of everyone. Any woman with the ambition to become beautiful can do so under MME. YALE's wonderful system of Beauty Culture. MME. YALE's beauty Book free by calling or sending 6 cents. ing 6 cents.

N. B.—Beware of imitations. MME. TALE, the creator of the art. Address all orders,

There is one true specific for diseases arising from a debilitated nervous system and that is Paine's celery compound, so generally prescribed by physicians. It is probably the most remarkable remedy that the scientific research of this country has produced. Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D., of Dartmouth College first prescribed what is now known the world over as Paine's celery compound, a positive cure for dyspepsia, billiousness, liver complaint, neuralgia, rheumatism, all nervous diseases and kidney troubles. For the latter Paine's celery compound has succeeded again and again where everything else has failed.

The medical journals of this country have given more space in the last few years to the many remarkable cases where the use of Paine's celery compound has made people well than to any other one subject.

Attempt to Prove Samuel Bonner Insane on That Ground.

PROCEEDINGS IN THE SUIT BEOUGHT TO BREAK HIS WILL.

John B. Gandolfo Doubtful About Religion and Its Belation to Spiritualism-Under Judge Klein's Instructions the Jury Sustains the Will of Mr. Benner-News of the Civil Courts.

In the Bonner will contest case, which is on trial in Judge Klein's court, a number of witnesses were put upon the stand to prove the mental incompetency of Mr. Samuel Bon-ner, the testator.

Mr. John B. Gandolfo, a flour broker, testified that he had known Samuel Bonner, the testator, a number of years; knew him to be a good business man and a man of very ositive views.

testator and also with the son of the plaintiff in the case. The only testimony offered by the witness outhing on the mental capacity of the testator was to the effect that Mr. Bonner had come to him on several occa-sions and told him that he had seen the spirit of his second wife the night before. The testator had married three times. He thought this was strange the testator as he had Protestant and then professed a belief in spiritualism. On cross-examination Mr. Ferriss, who represented the widow and the other defendants in the case, asked Mr. Gandolfo what his religious pellef was. "I suppose I am a Catholic," said the wit ness hesitatingly.

"Don't you believe in spirits?"

"What kind?" "Disembodied spirits?"

"Well, I don't know." "Do not all Christian sects believe in spirits?"

"Well, Mr. Ferriss, I am not very well posted on spiritualism or Christianity "Don't you know that there are a great many sensible people who believe in spirit-

"I never investigated the matter."

The witness was here excused. Others testified to Mr. Bonner's small peculiarities, but there was in reality no dence tending to show that tending dence tending to show that he was mentally incompetent to make his will or that his wife kate Bonner had unduly influenced him. The court accordingly instructed the jury to that effect and rendered a verdict sustaining the will.

A Witness Attacked. Annie Baghins, the colored woman who is an important witness in the Brown murder case, rushed into the Third District Station shortly after 8 o'clock last night and deshortly after 8 o'clock last night and de-clared that three white men had seized her in the yard in the rear of her house, No. 813 North Eighth street, and with knives in their hands threatened to kill her unless she left the city. Annie said she cut two of the men with a penknife and frightened them away. She is one of the women who identified the suspected murderers of Stockdealer Brown, who was kicked to death by three highway-men at Garrison and Franklin avenues some time ago. Annie was given police protec-tion.

Kingston, Jamaica, March 29.—The United States war vessel Kearsarge sailed for Port au Prince to-day with the object, it is un-derstood, of protecting American interests in the event of a revolution, which the folwers of Gen. Manigat are endeavoring to excite in Hayti. Last evening an exciting to the Kearsarge got into trouble on shore and was assaulted by a local constable. In the fight which took place the constable almost killed the seaman. The latter was so badly injured that he was not taken on board the Kearsarge, but conveyed to a hospital. Although the best attention is being given to him, his recovery is doubtil.

GOVERNMENT TROOPS ATTACK HONDURAN REV-OLUTIONISTS AND ARE REPULSED. PANAMA, Colombia, March 29.—A disastrous battle was fought near Tatumbia, Honduras, several days ago. Gen. Alfrenso Villela had been sent to the front with a large body of Government Proops to intercept the march of the revolutionists, who were moving against the capital at Tegucigalpa. Tatumbla had been occupied by the troops under Gen. Terrencia Sierra, who commands the south wing of the revolutionary army. In connection with the east wing of the revolutionary forces, commanded by Gen. Reyna, Gen. Sierra was leading the advance on Tegucigalpa. The east wing under under Gen. Reyna was four miles in the rear of Gen.

Sierra's forces.

Gen. Villeia's approach was in the nature of a surprise to the revolutionary commander at Tatumbia. He had stationed a mander at Tatumbia. He had stationed a body of cavalry on a height in front of the town on the road to Tegucigalpa, but the cavalrymen appeared to be unaware of the approach of the enemy until an attack had been made. The officer in command desperately attempted to rally his men. They made a brave and determined resistance, the travers steadily nuclear head toward the but were steadily pushed back toward the town. So closely were the cavalrymen followed that the advance of Villela's pursuing army approached within 150 yards of the outskirts of the town. One band of there from Bage tell stories of hard fighting querrillas bravely pushed on in the pursuit until they were only fifty yards from the town, but were driven back with considera-ble loss of life by the reinforcements sent forward by Gen. Slerra.

Reyna's troops were pushed rapidly to the front, Col. Manuel Rosas with two companies leading the advance. The battle had begun so late in the day that firing had been suspended on account of darkness, when Col. Rosas' detachment arrived to relieve the

Col. Rosas' detachment arrived to relieve the besieged army in Tatumbla.

Gen. Ville'a's forces fell back a short distance and waited for the following day to rensw the attack. A flank movement upon Gen. Villela was decided upon. Five hundred Texisent braves were detached from the east wing and with Gen. Reyna himself at their head, occupied a height to the left of the position held by Gen. Villela's army. Gen. Villela renewed his attack upon the revolutionists at daybreak and the battle was soon raging all along the line. As soon as the attack in front became general Gen. as the attack in front became general Gen Reyna and his Texigent braves opened fire on Villeia's forces in the rear. This attack was so flerce and surprising that the Govern-ment troops were almost demoralized. The

Not more than fifty soldiers of Villein's army followed him in the retreat. With this small force he fied toward La Montanita. Small bands fied in other directions, hotly pursued by the revolutionists. They killed as many as they could while fleeing, and when the fight was over all who had been captured were slaughtered. No prisoners were retained to be cared for. More than 100 government soldiers fell in the battle and fully one-half as many revolutionists were killed. The bodies of all who fell on each side were gathered in a heap and burned.

Harry Guinzberg Says Mr. Bernheimer Can't Control It.

SOME PLAIN TALK ON A DEBATED PO-LITICAL QUESTION.

Workingmen Indorse Mr. Bannerman-Vigorous Letter From Election Judge John O'Brien-A Statement From Wheelmen-Spectacles in the Booths-The Sample Ballots-Political Notes.

The position taken by H. A. Guinzburg. the defeated candidate for Collector, since the late Democratic Convention at Uhrig's Cave, is in marked contrast with the course of Marcus Bernheimer, the disgruntled aspirant for the Mayoralty nomination. It took Guinzburg just six hours to get over the soreness of defeat. The next day he presented himself at the Bannerman headquarters and announced his readiness to enter the campaign heart and soul for the success of the Democratic ticket. Since then he has been working like a beaver in its behalf, making three and four speeches a night for the men who were his adversaries on the

for the men who were his adversarjes on the floor of the convention. As he is as well qualified to speak for the Hebrew voters of the city as any man in local politics, a Post-DisparGur reporter called on him to-day to ascertain his views on the Bernheimer letter and its effect.

"I have read Mr. Bernheimer's letter carefully," said he, "and I considerfit ill-advised and uncalled for. There is no question in my mind but that Mr. Bernheimer spent a large amount of money and made a very active canvass to procure the nomination for Mayor. He had connected with him a large number of people who evidently had made promises which they knew they could not fulfill. He without doubt expected to be the nominee of the party, though I believed all along that he was being misled. As far back as last January I said to him that I did not think that he had a ghost of a chance, but that I would promise him that I fi he was nominated I would not allow my name to go before the convention as candidate for Collector, though in the meantime I should do everything in my power to promote my own chances. I made, perhaps, one of the biggest canvasses ever made in the city, and I certainly should not have done that if I had thought Mr. Bernheimer had any chance.

"There may have been some things done in that convention which did not please me, notably my own defeat, but I recontize the fact that a large convention frequently gets stampeded, and I believe in taking the result gracefully. Having been defeated I am a Democrat first, last and all the time. I believe that a man who goes before a convention is in duty bound to abide by its action, just as much so as he would be bound to support a caucus nominee if he had gone into a caucus. If I had defeated Judge McCaffrey I just as much so as he would be bound to support a caucus nominee if he had gone into a caucus. If I had defeated Judge McCaffrey I should have expected him to support me. I can't understand Mr. Bernhelmer's action, because he well knew that all is fair in love and war, and the fight was to the death."
"What effect do you think the Bernhelmer letter will have upon the Hebrew vote?"
"I do not think that that question should be considered. If Mr. Bernhelmer feels aggrieved and cannot support the Democratic nominees let him join the Republicans or Independents. He has no right in the Democratic ranks. As for the Hebrew vote I think I voice the sentiment of the Hebrews of the city when I say that they do not allow religion and politics to clash. They think and act for themselves, and on election day every Democratic vote will be cast for the Democratic ticket."

Mr. Bannerman will have a small c opposite his name, and McCaffery, O'Brien, Haley and Ward will be marked with capital C's. The friends of McMath have tried very hard to obtain the decoration of a little c for Burnett but they have not succeeded, and the circulars will not discriminate between the two. Last fall an attempt was made to decide between candidates on their official records. This was found to be unsafe, and errors resulted. This time, accordingly, the circulars will confine themselves to the big and little C's.

The resolutions were enthusiastically cheered. M. J. Qatchford said to-day: "The signatures to that resolution are all genuine and influential."
Harry Newmark, one of the signers, came to the Bannerman headquarters to-day to protest against a report that the Walters and Bartenders' Union had indorsed Walbridge.
"The union by its constitution can indorse nobody," said he. "We can do what we please individually, but the organization is not in politics." I take the fact to be that the Democratic Central Committeeman of the Twenty-second Ward made the appointment for all the precincts and. knowing as he did, that I have acted in the capacity of Judge in this ward for many years. I cannot but the standing of the many years. I cannot but the standing of the parameter of the primary; that was my privilers. I supported him heartily and without tee or reward, little helieving there would be any punishment entailed for that.

You have, with the valuable assistance of our committeeman, accomplished the gigantic feat of appointing in our precinct five green hands out of six to perform an important work.

Ostractized and ignored by the managers of the party with which I have loyally acted for four years, it seems strange that the Republican managers are still willing to trust me in consenting to my appointment as judge for this side. This has has been done just once too often.

Mr. O'Brien's grievance is directed against Clarence L. Hoolitzelle, who was the Bernheimer manager for the Twenty-second Ward. The Recorder has accepted his resignation.

To the great chagrin of some of the Republicans of the Sixteenth Ward, Recorder James L. Carlisle appointed E. Marschuetz as one of the judges in Precinct Eighty-eight. The Recorder some days ago, heard that his intention to make

"Can you see all right with your spectacles," the Recorder asked.

"Oh, very well," said the new judge.

"I'll appoint you then," said the Recorder.

The Sample Ballots.

At the Democratic Central Committee meeting to-night the sample ballots will be ordered for the instruction of the voter. The regular ballots are printed voter. The regular ballots are printed on white paper that cannot be counterfeited. Each one has the words "Australian ballot," on it as a water mark. The Republicans have already got out 50,000 sample ballots on yellow paper, showing all the tickets scratched except theirs. The Democrats will print their sample ballots on pink paper, scratching all the rest of the tickets. Those sample ballots cost the committees $325 for 60,000.

MAY NOT RATIFY.

The Cherokees Dissatisfied With the Strip

TARLEQUAR, I. T., March 29 .- There have been developments within the past twenty-four bours which go to show that the acceptance of the Cherokee strip bill by the Cherokee Council is altogether an uncertainty. The opposition to the congressional enactment is more active than was at first thought probable.

The threat by certain members of Congress that if the Indians fail to ratify the amendment the lands will be thrown open to settlement regardless of their wishes does not seem to alarm any one. They point to the fact that President Cleveland has always been their friend and would not at this crisis betray them by using arbitrary means to gratify the desires of the boomer element; then the Indian points to the recent acts of Congress as virtually an admission of their title to the Indians to ratify the agreement is the very large amount of interest accuring daily upon the principal of the deferred payments for the lands. This interest amounts to $1,000 a day and consequently for each week that ratification is delayed the Cherokees lose $7,000. that if the Indians fail to ratify

There is more or less politics connected with the deal, and there being haif a dozen different factions all clamoring for advantage, it will be no surprise if the interest of the people suffers.

New York, March 29 .- The steamer Ven ango, Hamburg, which arrived last night, had a narrow escape from total destruc-tion by fire during the vovage to tion by fire during the vovage to this port. Capt. Wilson reports that on the list inst., in mid-ocean at 10:30 p. m. during a strong northwest gale and high sea, a hanging lamp in the saloon broke from its fastenings, Talling to the floor, where it exploded and the whole cabin became immediately one mass of flames. All hands rushed aft and with much difficulty, owing to the headway the fire had gained, caused by the high wind, succeeded, with the aid of a fire pump, in subduing the flames. However, not before the interior of the cabin was completely charred and destroyed. The chief steward was severely burned about the face and body. The loss will reach several thoughd dollars.

ON 'CHANGE. Wheat—The market made a strong start, and shortly after the opening was salable at $20 advance, but speculation was light—buying orders few and not much for sale—and after the regular opening activity, trading quieted down and prices dropped back. When Chicago went to pieces as it did for a while there was a tumble here that earlied his salited quickty I can it to respectively. It have was a unsettled and as close May was $20 and July 14c below yesterday. Manipulation was the big speculative card, and the May deal in Chicago the chief object of interest. As that market shot up still higher this morning all domestic markets were elevated somewhat through sympathy. The early cables were rather better also in noting firmess, London also reporting an Grain. also in noting firmness, Loudon also reporting an increased continental demand, and Australlan wheat 3d higher, but at Liverpoot there was only a moderate inquiry. Weather conditions in this country were highly favorable, rains having fallen in Kansas and temperature rising all over the winter and spring wheat districts. Crop reports were still conflicting, about as many good as poor reports being heard and, as the weather favored, improved in the plant's prospects, the complaints were not much headed tas many good as poor reports being heard to weather favored, improved in the plant's, the complaints were not much heeded, at whiter wheat points were mail, but 600 cars spring wheat Chicago, Duluth and Minneapolis Western and Northwestern centers amounted to 530,000 bu. On the and four ports clearances were only page four and 182,000 bu what it's visible decrease of 1.271,000 bu was at was expected. The announcement of a 2 red taken for export and private cables Paris up he had no effect, as the break in lay had a depressing effect locally, unset-celing and disturbing the market greatly. Was heavy.

Was heavy.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 29.—The Board of Trade directors have decided that a storage emergency exists. Extra emergency houses will now be created as applications are made and an necessity presents itself. The decision of the directors was reached last aight, but was not generally known until nearly noon to-day. Meantime, with Kansas and the whole West dry to-day, according to the weather map, and no prospect of rain, shorts were excited and pushed the price up on themselves until the crique began realizing wholesale and prices went down with a rush. Statements purporting to come from Secretar Mohier, declaring that Kansas had goed rains, were denounced as bogus. Frivate reports from Kansas were bad. The drought even helped the July option. Looks Like a Suicide.

Stephen Steinhaus, living at 110A Russell avenue, was run over and killed last night on the Iron Mountain road near Barton Steinhaus' identity was unknown street. Steinhaus' identity was unknown until to day, when his body was identified by John Mert and Mike Vosingor, who also live at 110A Russell avenue. According to their story Steinhaus may have committed suicide. He was a Hungarian by birth and had a wife and two small children. His wife is very sick and has recently had a surgical operation performed on her. The family were out of funds. The men stated that Steinhaus left his home last night without a coat or hat. His friends went in search of him and to-day found his body in the Morgue. When Steinhaus' body was searched 10 cents was found on it.

in the Revolution. His father served as Colo-nel in the war of 1812, later in the United States regular army, and was afterwards Judge of the United States Superior Court. Kirby Smith graduated at West Point in 1845, and served in the Mexican war. He taught mathematics at West Point in 1949-52, served on the frontier against the Coman-served on the frontier against the Comanches, resigned from the army when Florida seceded and threw his fortunes with the Confederacy.

He served from the beginning of the war in Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia and the Carolinas. In February, 1863, he was given command of the entire Confederate force west of the Mississippi and organized a government. In 1864 he defeated Banks in the campaign on Red River. He was the last Confederate General to surrender.

He was President of the Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph Co. in 1895-68; Chancellor of the University of Nashville, 1870-75, and Professor of Mathmatics of the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn., since 1875.

Costly Horses That Were Good Invest-

AND A LONG LIST OF OTHERS THAT

Turimen Discuss an Interesting Topic Jim Sellers and The Hero-Track and Stable Gossip - Local Reception to Allen and fachtleben-The Ring-Base Ball-General Sporting News.

When the horsemen that are wont to gather in the Southern rotunda pull up their chairs, turning the backs thereof to the throng around them, it is pretty safe to say that the discussion is an interesting one. Last night the discussion was on high-priced failures and even the Judge got so warmed up that he threw away his inevitable toothpick. Some were of the opinion that it paid to give great prices for horses, perhaps the larger number thought it did, but there was great diversity of opinion. No one doubt Chas. Reed had a good thing in St. Blaise at $10,000, but O'Brien McDonough's $150,000 for Ormonde was not considered a good investment because of the animal's roar-ing proclivities. Croker's $30,000 for Helen Nichols was thought to be conservative as the filly could win out her price any season. The same thing was said of his Yorkville Belle and Dobbins purchases. Then there was G. W. Johnson at $30,000, Don Alonzo at the same figure and Sir Francis for $26,000. These colts are worth the money and will win out their price with ease in the coming season.

The men who went against big prices failed to convince, but they had spectacular argu-ments. The great King Thomas, who went for $38,000 as a yearling and never won 38 cents; McCafferty's $21,000 Aloha purchase which is the only blot on the Georgian's on; Mike Dwyer's Bolero and Freddy Gebhard's $21,500 Canvass were leading in-

The good things gone wrong of the past eason were gone over. Zaldivar, the California Derby candidate who cost Hasty stables $6,000 and earned about $200, the Lieby Bros.' Balgaman, Warpath, Ballarat, the Carsina colt, and Gov. Foraker, were all gay deceivers in '92. The advocates of high price were getting reckless, and when the subject of cheap yearlings that proved bonanzas was sprung on the meeting, took a recess to accept an invitation.

LOCAL TURF GOSSIP. Jim Sellers has entered The Hero in tomorrow's handleap, and if assigned a weight which will give Fellowcraft's son a chance to win, Jim says he will start the coil. The Hero was one of the fastest selling platers on the Western circuit last season, winning a good-sized fortune for his owner at Chicago. He won over fifteen races, four of which were captured in succession, including two in one day. He was turned out last fall, and after several months' rest down in Kentucky was fired and shipped over to Sellers' quarters at the course across the fail, and after several months' rest down in Kentucky was fired and shipped over to Sellers' quarters at the course across the river. He looked like a wild horse when he arrived here, and if he is as good to-morrow as he looked then and in a sound condition, it will be worth while to bet on him when he starts. After winning a big roll with him last season Sellers came down to this point with a stable of cheap platers. He soon found out however, that there was but one The Hero, and so it was not long before his roll vanished. While it lasted he made a great showing. For awhile he drove around in a swell turn-out, usually attired in a cream-colored coat, which had a double row of pearl buttons, each of which were as big as an ordinary door knob, down the front. A diamond almost as big as one of the buttons adorned his necktie and many took him for the man that broke the bank at Monte Carlo. Sellers says that if The Hero repeats his performances of last year the coming season he will cross the big pond and make an effort to smash the big French game.

Tom Hood, who won the last race yesterday so handliy, was entered at $100, and it was the prevailing impression that if he won he would surely be run up. The result was quite a crowd gathered to see the tun, but no bid was made, and Virgil's old son was knocked down to his owner at his entered price. Trainer Sellers, in whose name Charite Quinn entered him, said that he and Quinn expected s run up, and concluded to let the old horse go at $150. This fact, in all probability, is what kept any of the horsemen from bidding, as while Tom runs a good race once in a while, he is on the whole a most uncertain brute.

If the Chatterook capturing the prize, and morning paper reporters have seen so many 'dogs' race on local tracks that they imprive the prize.

AT EAST ST. LOUIS.

Four favorites and one outsider were successful at the course across the river yesterday and the bookmakers were slaughtered.

St. Joe at 8 to 5 and 2 to 1 won the handicap in a furious drive with Cæsar, who closed an equal second choice with Van Zant at 3 to 1, by a neck. The other events were won handing by Hattle D. at 2 to 1, Mantella at 4 and 5 to 1 won the horse at that.

race once in a while, he is on the whole a most uncertain brute.

M. P. Mattingley of Owensboro, Ky., was in town yesterday and engaged stable room at the Fair Grounds for his string of tweive, which he intends to race exclusively at this point during the coming spring and summer meeting of the St. Louis Jockey Club. Mattingley is sweet on his 2-year-old bay coit by Keene out of Gintsey, which he named St. Elmo. The youngster, according to his owner, is a good-looking coit that will surely prove a breadwinner. Mattingley also owns White Wings, a 8-year-old chest-nut filly by Iroquois out of Blue Gown, who is entered in the Inaugural handicap and the street Railway handicap.

Manazer Brooks promises one of the best races for Saturday that have been seen in this vicinity this year. Brooks says that Mackey, St. Joe, Miss Kitty and a number of other good ones will start in it.

Ike Labold, the Cincinnati turfman, spent yesterday afternoon at the track and returned to town minus a portion of his roll. This was the result of Ike endeavoring to pick a long shot.

President John Hambrick of the Madison Racing Association is a frequent visitor at the course across the river nowadays.

Western 2-year-Olds.

There is pienty of gossin in Western turf circles nowadays about the 2-year-olds that will be out on the western circuit the coming season. The Scoggan Bros.' lot is reported to be of fair quality. There is reason for the backing that Buck McCann is getting for the backing that Buck McCann is getting for the backing that Buck McCann is getting for the American Derby. Dutch Oven and Shadow have wintered well, and Ban Chief is doing well enough to duplicate his work of 1891.

Of the 2-year-olds Buckrene, Pat and Dart are said to be the best. Buckrene is flying blind Irene's son; Pat, a brother of Capt. Oottrell and Helen N., and Dart, a sister to that fast filly Quickstep, by Faustus—Tinsel, and by report another Quiver.

There is a good pair in Dr. E. F. McLean's lot. They are Castelar and Jamboree, and both are well engaged. Castelar, by Leonatus—Vassar, is a half brother to Newton; Jamboree, by Gleneig—Linnett, a half brother to Miss Belle. Jack Marklein of Cincinnati also has a good colt in G. B. Cox, by McDuff—Red Leaves, a stake winner.

Cy Jaynes' Orchid, by Onandaga—Kelp, and sister to Obaway and Ondawa, is said to be an extra good filly. Bill Scully's Cyrus, by Mermot—Silk Gown, and Philopena, by Top Gallant—Virginity, will do for stakes and the Lorraine Stable has two good fillies in Marjory Hilton, by Iroquois—Bire-a-brac, sister to Algonquin, Annie Irwin and Princess Lorraine, and Santa Monica, by Iroquois—Bire Gown, sister to Dinsmore, Helen Nichols' sister; Inter Ocean, the Enquirer—Bonnie Meade colt and half brother to Exile, Basil Duke and Reporter; Florence, by Okema—Ada Lambert, half sister to Lady Mary.

mind is clearly shown by the information published in the sporting columns of the morning papers to-day. These journals state that a sensation has been created in London by the inexplicable disappearance of the famous racer and winner of the Waterloo cup, Fullerton, and adds: "The horse was taken from the stable of Col. Norse Saturday." It so happens that Fullerton is not a horse, but a greyhound, He belongs to Col. John T. North, the nitrate king, and not to Col. "Norse," and has won Waterloo cup three times, but lost it the last time, Chatterbox capturing the prize. The morning paper reporters have seen so many "dogs" race on local tracks that they imagine all dogs are horses. THE WHEEL.

The latest advices from Messrs. Allen and Sachtleben are that they left Jefferson City this morning en route for home. The route they intend to follow will be by way of Her-ricinity this year. Brooks says that Mackey, St. Joe, Miss Kitty and a number of other good ones will start in it.

Ike Labold, the Cincinnati turfman, spent yesterday afternoon at the track and returned to town minus a portion of his roli. This was the result of Ike endeavoring to pick a long shot.

AT SACHTLEBEN'S HOME. ALTON, Ill., March 29.-Extensive preparations are being made by the Alton Athletic Club and a number of prominent citizens for the reception of Messrs, W. L. Sachtleben and Thos. G. Allen, the wheelmen who have distinguished themselves by a tour of the world on bicycles. They are expected to arrive here the latter part of the week, and will be given a grand reception and banquet. Mr. Sachtleben is an old Alton boy, having been born and raised here.

A CHICAGO PARE. "The reports sent out from Chicago that the L. A. W. organization have abrogated their contract with the publishers of the L. A. W. Sulletin is a pure fake," said Bob Holm, Chief Consul for Missouri this morn-ing. "When I saw the statement in the morning papers I telegraphed About Bas-sett and received a reply from him last night saying that the story was a Chicago fake, utterly without foundation." CYCLE CHAT.

CYCLE CHAT.

It is stated that the present racing board of the L.

A. W. is the strongest the league ever had.

The track at Eastern Park, Brooklya, on which the National Cycling Association will hold their eash prize races, will be a third of a mile to the lap and built of clay.

In Paris lady cyclists have to obtain the consent of the Presecture of Police to ride through the streets. So far only twenty-six have secured the necessary permission.

Mr. George S. Rhodes, the Chairman of the Games Committee of the Pastime Athletic Club, is a little nettled over the announcement that members of the P. A. C. would

"As far as the Pastime members are concerned your informant has deceived you, either intentionally or otherwise," said Mr. Rhodes. "The Pastime Club is a member of the Central Branch of the Amatuer Athletic Union, and members of clubs members of this organization are forbidden from taking part in contests not sanctioned by the governing body. This rule was not formed with the object of antagonizing any club or organization, but to keep the sport within proper bounds and to prevent individuals or so-called managers from using amateur athletics for personal gain.

"When necessary sanction is secured the Pastime Club will always be found ready to lend its aid to any contests which will tend to encodrage and foster legitimate amateur athletics, but it will not be made a tool of to further anyone's private interests."
